Night's Rest Brings Relief To President

Physicians Optimistic Though
None Will Predict Outcome Of Illness

BULLETIN SAYS "GRAVE"

Aeroplanes Forbidden To Fly
Over City In Which Harding Lies Ill

By Associated Press
Presidential Headquarters, Palace
Hotel, San Francisco—President Harding appeared Tuesday to have won the first preliminary skirmish in his fight against broncho-pneumonia
and attending complications.

An official bulletin by the five physicians attending him said there had been no extension during the night
and earlier part of the day of the pneumonic areas, and the heart action was definitely improved. It added also that he had been benefited
by a fairly comfortable night with considerable restful sleep.

The President, the bulletin said,
had expressed himself as feeling better and less exhausted. His temperature at 9 A. M. was given as 100.

Presidential Headquarters, Palace Hotel, San Francisco—The president had a fairly comfortable
night with considerable restful sleep.

His temperature at 9 A. M. is 100; pulse 120; respiration, 40 and regular. There has been no expansion of the pneumonic areas
and the heart action is definitely improved.

Nourishment and fluids are being taken regularly. Elimination is satisfactory.

His expression himself as feeling better and less exhausted.

about a degree less than that of Monday; pulse 120, a drop of five from Monday; and his respiration 40 and regular as contrasted with 44 and irregular as given in reports of Monday.

Equally assuring as the official bulletin was the statement given by Charles E. Sawyer, the president's personal physician made informally
was as follows:

"The president has had the best night comparatively that he has had since his illness began. That augurs well. The conditions seem to warrant the statement that apparently he has gotten into clear sailing.

Approximately six hours of sleep
were obtained by the chief executive
during the night and when he awakened about 6 o'clock his first request
was for the morning newspapers.

Presidential Headquarters, Palace
Hotel, San Francisco—President Harding, characteristically calm and determined, is fighting the greatest battle of his career—a struggle in which his life is at stake.

Arrayed against him was broncho-
pneumonia, symptoms of which were discovered by the attending physicians
last Monday night, and also the danger of other complications. Arrayed in his favor was his calm determination, a subsidence of earlier abdominal troubles, and the hopes and prayers of a nation. His handicap was admitted by weakened physical resistance.

None of the five attending physicians would predict the outcome although all were optimistic. No word came from the sick room during the early hours Tuesday it having been agreed after a bulletin was issued at 9:15 o'clock Monday night that no additional formal statement would be made until about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, unless there occurred a decided change one way or the other.
So to those who waited no news was considered good news.

FRUITS "TO GRAVE"
The 2:15 bulletin issued after a consultation of the five physicians attending the president, contained the first announcement that broncho-pneumonia
had developed in the right lung, although a statement given out four hours previously had spoken of "evidence of some congestion in one lung."

It also conveyed the first authoritative information that his condition had turned from "serious" to "grave."
The bulletin also contained rays of hope, for it said that "nourishment
is being taken regularly and the abdominal symptoms are less noticeable,"
and that the chief executive was "temperamentally well adapted to make a strong fight against the infection."

Another favorable statement was that his temperature was remaining about constant at 101 degrees, even though his pulse continued at about 125 as compared with his normal of 80 and his respiration was about 44.

The broncho-pneumonia symptoms
described in the bulletin as "definite clinical" and by the X-ray, which was

Girl's Tale
Of Attack
Is Doubted

Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke is inclined to discredit the story of Miss Loraine Feustel, a girl visiting at the home of Herman Court near New London, of being attacked by a masked man with a revolver and a knife following an investigation and a search for the alleged assailant.

According to the girl's story, while she was alone in the house one day
last week a man who appeared to be a tramp entered and flashing a revolver and a knife began to slash her clothes with the knife. The girl's screams drove the man to seek hiding in the cornfield near by.

After a search by Sheriff Zuehlke
and two deputies with the aid of blood-hounds procured from O. C. Riley of Waupaca, the sheriff concluded the assault existed only in the girl's imagination. A physician also declared that the girl showed no evidence of attack other than a few rents in her dress which were believed to have been made by herself.

The liquor being disposed of netted
the state a total of about $500,000 in

SENDS FOR PAPERS
President Harding was so refreshed
by a sleep which lasted more than six hours Monday night that he said Tuesday morning he felt able to look at the news of the day and sent out for the morning papers, all of which were devoted largely to accounts of his illness.

PLANES BARRED
No airplanes will be permitted to fly over San Francisco while President Harding remains here.

An order prohibiting private planes
from passing over the city was issued Tuesday by Police Chief O'Brien, as a result of a conference Monday night with secret service officers here with the president, and army, navy, and postal planes are confined by regulation to certain definite sections on the water front or near the landing

politan area.

WASHINGTON IS ANXIOUS AS IT
READS PAPERS

London, Too, Is Sympathetical-
ly Interested In Harding's Illness

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Awakened to a realization of the seriousness of President Harding's illness, the national capital went about its business Tuesday with a manifest air of sorrow
and anxiety.

From the highest and the lowest in the government service there were expressions of regret, for during his
two years and a half in the white house, Mr. Harding has made contact with many hundreds of those with whom he publicly has classed himself as a "worker for the government," and his warm-heartedness
and human kindness have made friends everywhere.

Only two cabinet members, Secretary Hughes and Postmaster General
New, are in Washington and both, as well as other high officials, requested that the latest advice to the Associated Press, be telephoned directly to their offices.

LONDON SYMPATHETIC
London—President Harding's illness
is attracting sympathetic interests
here and reports of his condition are displayed prominently by the newspapers. The press also prints his portraits.

Although Mr. Harding is not known here personally, his record is familiar to the British public and he is always referred to with respect.

UNDERWOOD READY
TO PUT HAT IN RING

By Associated Press
Montgomery, Ala.—In an address
before the Mobile delegation of the Alabama legislature Tuesday Senator Oscar W. Underwood declared that if the citizenry of Alabama requested it
"his hat was in the ring for the presidency."

"It is not for me to name Alabama's candidate for president, but if this great state names me as her standard bearer, all the fighting spirit I have
will be enlisted to carry democracy's
call to triumph."

DUKE OF ORLEANS SAID
TO BE HELD UNDER GUARD

London—The duke of Orleans, who would be king of France if royalty
had survived, is confined in a private house in Richmond, a London suburb, under the care of physicians and four male attendants, says the Daily Express. He is often delirious, the newspaper asserts.

"I am a prisoner here, he cries. 'I,
king of France, a prisoner!'"
The duke's financial agent in England told the Daily Express that the duke contracted malaria in Africa.
Later the attorney of the duke issued a statement that the duke was suffering from malaria and dysentery,
but that there was no warrant for the statement that he was being guarded.

The profit in the preceding quarter
was $8 a share.

German Taxes
Raised To Pay
Ruhr Expenses

By Associated Press
Berlin—The German cabinet
Tuesday adopted a number of taxation measures to supply the country with considerable sums of money it needs owing to the depreciation of the mark. The bills provide for a 100 per cent increase in the income tax to meet the expenditure necessitated by the occupation of the Rhine and the Ruhr. The trading companies must pay a heavily increased corporation tax. These taxes will not be levied in the occupied territory.

The beer tax will be increased but
the tax on mineral waters is dropped.
A special, non-recurring tax will be imposed on motor cars of fifty times
the ordinary tax.

FARMERS ARE UNIT
FOR T. B. CLEANUP

William J. Mullen of Seymour, Route 4, is the first committeeman in the county to turn in a 100 per cent
list of petitioners for the countywide clean up of bovine tuberculosis. His district is joint school district No. 1
of Black Creek.

A few farmers refused to sign at first, but after attending the tuberculosis meeting at Seymour on July 20,
every one in the district declared it was the thing to do.

Petitions now are being circulated in 30 school districts, according to Robert A. Amundsen, county agricultural agent.

CANADA CROPS DAMAGED

By Associated Press
Regina, Sask.—Hail, sawfly, grass hoppers, and rust have taken their toll of Canadian crops, dimming the favorable outlook of a few weeks ago,
according to a report of the department of agriculture made public Tuesday. Rust, while not regarded as serious, was reported in the south-central, east central and Regina-Way-burn districts. Rain is needed in the central district.

Fascisti Bring Order
Out Of Italian Chaos

Lawrence Hints United States
Violates Policy Of Isolation
By Giving Approval To Revolutionary Policy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Cable Dispatch to the Post-Crescent

Rome—Supposing Wall street and the country's business interests, suddenly impatient with the farm bloc
or Labor group in Congress, should line up with the American Legion and the Ku Klux Klan and utterly disregarding the existing military and civil authority, should march on Washington 300,000 strong, should intimidate congress into obedience, and force the resignation of the chief executive, substituting a military dictator.

This imaginary picture gives an idea of the happenings in Italy during the last eight months, for Musso-lini's government of revolutionary dictatorship is popular because it is feared, and it is, approved enthusiastically by the business interests because it saved the country from a worse fate—bolshevism. But is it legal? Even its defenders admit the countrifolness of the proposition saying the end justifies the means.

Supposing further that the Democrats or the Republicans in the United States should win an election and the Italian ambassador should make a speech at a banquet saying what a great thing the victory is for America as a result of the election; and supposing the winning party should achieve a triumph like the Italian Fascisti, would the Italian envoy be permitted to remain in the United States? Would he not be recalled?

U. S. APPROVES FASCISTI
These questions suggested themselves to the writer after an investigation of the situation here. For the Fascisti movement has the whole-hearted approval of the United States government. The ambassador here recently made a sensational speech for an office banquet, which Fascisti leaders later described as a better exposition of Fascist principles than they themselves could have made.

The ambassador, Mr. Child, said in a prepared speech:
"During the last eight months Italy
has made an extraordinary contribution to the world whole raising the ideals of human courage, discipline and responsibility. I would be unfaithful to my beliefs and to those of hundreds of Americans if I failed to acknowledge the part played by Premier Mussolini with the Italian people, giving all mankind an example of courageous national organization founded upon the disciplined responsibility of the individual to the state, upon the abandonment of false hopes in feeble doctrines and upon the appeal to the full vigorous strength of the human spirit."

The Harding administration is unwilling to join the international organization abroad for fear of "getting mixed up" in European affairs, yet in Italy's case the Washington government did not hesitate to take sides between parties in Italy. The Italians perhaps are getting used to intervention, for former president Wilson issued the equivalent to an appeal to the Italian people during the Paris
peace conference.

The Harding administration has gone further than Wilson now, for in giving direct approval of the Fascisti
movement which grew up from military force and revolution, the Washington government placed itself on record, indirectly as approving the overthrow of established governments
by military means, something which in Latin America at least was discouraged as far as possible by the proceeding Washington administration.

WISE BEES ATTACK MAN WITH LOAD OF HONEY

By Associated Press
Paris—Scientific interest is aroused over an incident in the Swiss canton of Vaud, which tends to demonstrate that bees possess a sense unknown to humans.

A farmer was taking 100 pounds of honey to market when the wagon overturned. In a few moments a number of bees were noticed in the vicinity
and in a quarter of an hour the sky was darkened by them. It has been since learned that simultaneously every hive in the canton was emptied.

Many people were stung and three children who were riding on the wagon
at the time of the accident were retreated with difficulty from the angry insects.

U. S. MARINER TELLS TALE
OF MASSACRE IN SIBERIA

Nome Alaska—Rumors of a massacre in Siberia in which approximately 100 persons were killed were brought here today by Capt. Hammer of the American schooner Silver Wave. The alleged massacre took place within a few hundred miles of North Cape, he said. Arrival tonight of the United States revenue cutter Bear was awaited for verification of the rumors.

These considerations are by far the most important of those striking the investigator reaching Italy. There is a tension in the atmosphere which is not escapable. Gradually some essentials of democratic government are being taken from the people by the oligarchy headed by the aggressive Mussolini.

For instance, there is strict censorship of all dispatches sent from Italy
by cable or wireless. Correspondents frequently have numerous sentences
taken out of their dispatches.

FEAR WORLD OPINION
The news censorship not only is evidence of absolutism but as well a fear for the outside world to learn the truth. The Mussolini government is endeavoring a law about to be jammed
through parliament, taking away the freedom of government criticism. The measure is aimed at Senator Albertini,
the owner of Corriere Della Sera, published at Milan and among the best calmed people published in Europe, certainly the best in Italy. Albertini dared to criticize the government,
therefore a bill is pending permitting

the local police to sue newspapers and where legal restrictions upon them whenever articles apparently reflect upon indefinable things such as "national honor" and "national defense."
Mussolini promised to call a general
election, but postponed it for a year.
Some critics say he is not so much afraid of defeat as of having too many Fascisti elected to parliament, which might mean a division in his own ranks. Today he rules with a minority Fascisti, but other parliament
members are so scared that they do whatever Mussolini says. Mussolini is aware that this is the best arrangement for a dictator.

Italy has been passing through a severe period of transition. Contrasted with the chaos following the fall of ministry after ministry, the Fascisti
at least made trains punctual, and labor strikes a serious offense, therefore there is a kind of equilibrium now.
The big question is whether the government will grow more reactionary and absolute or whether having a calmed people, a return of legal methods, and the confidence of the masses,
constitutional government will come back.

LONDON FEARS
CUNO CABINET
WILL RESIGN

British Cabinet Anxious Over Delay In Reply To Reparations Note

By Associated Press

London—The principal business behind the cabinet Tuesday was the discussion of the Franco-Belgian communications in reply to Great Britain's reparations note. It was generally understood in political circles that ministers were approaching their task
with serious anxiety.

The cabinet had to decide whether Great Britain would accede to France's request for additional information regarding the British proposals, thereby involving further delays, or whether the British government should assume the responsibility of negotiating direct with Germany without the approval of France or Belgium.

It was pointed out in British official circles that the German government was finding itself surrounded by evergrowing difficulties and that it was possible that before Great Britain, France and Belgium could agree on a uniform policy, the Cuno government might fall.

RAINBOWS SHY $200
ON GOURAUD VISIT

Failure to sell sufficient tickets for the banquet during the visit of General Herl J. E. Gouraud in Appleton on July 17 left the local sub-chapter of the Rainbow Division war veterans with a deficit of about $200. This the sum that the veterans are short of the $500 they undertook to raise to cover the expenses in connection with the distinguished man's visit.

The shortage was made known
Monday evening at the monthly meeting of the Rainbow men in Armory G.
Correspondence from former comrades
of the Rainbow men was read at the meeting; one of the letters came from Anthony Jeska, who is in Hawaii.

YESSIR, SOME PEOPLE HAVE
ALL THE LUCK IN THE WORLD

By Associated Press
New York—Is Long Beach down-
hearted? The answer is a loud "No."

Nobody seems to know how it all happened but the guess is that Father Neptune or Davy Jones got convivial and decided to see what the boys in the back room would have.

A young man and a young woman were returning from a late dance and had strolled down on the beach to get a breath of fresh air.

"Beatrice," he exclaimed, "can you shine down me? Do you see the same thing that I see or I have got em?"

"I do," said Beatrice in hushed tones. "It is a case of whiskey."

About that time other people began to congregate and just then another case bobbed up on the waves. And another. And another. In all 200 cases of pre war rye and scotch were retrieved.

CLOUDBURST IN MARYLAND
DOES ENORMOUS DAMAGE

By Associated Press
Baltimore—Cloudbursts and a series
of terrific thunder storms, sweeping the counties of western Maryland,
caused the Patuxent river to overflow its banks and buildings before it,
driving hundreds of families from their homes and causing damage that will run into millions of dollars.

As far as is known, no lives were lost.

The flood, the most disastrous since the Patuxent overflowed in 1868, and took a toll of thirty-eight lives in the vicinity of Ellicott City, ran highest at Sykesville, Ellicott City and other points between these places and the river's mouth.

WANT WARNING SIGN ON DANGEROUS ROAD CROSSING

Travelers on state trunk highway 47 have been complaining about the lack of danger signs near Wickert's corner, which is the junction of highway 47 and the detour of county trunk line C. Just before one reaches the corner there is a hill and a cornfield. The hill and cornfield shuts off the view of the crossing it is held.

Several accidents and other near accidents have occurred at this place this year. One of them was the crash of the Appleton police car with the motorcycle of Walter Egan, county motorcycle officer, the other was the collision of the car of George F. Fiedler with a Chicago tourists' automobile Monday morning.

Motorists assert that a sign should be erected there some distance from the crossing, especially now while that road is being used as a detour during the construction on county trunk line C.

Cow And Ford Ruined In Bump Near Green Bay

Green Bay—A cow was killed, two men slightly injured and a Ford car demolished in a general mix-up of gasoline, humanity and "cow" Sunday evening on Highway 16, about three miles west of Bellevue. The cow wandered up on the road and was struck by a large automobile, owned and driven by Attorney J. P. Frank of Appleton.

The Frank car was immediately stopped and while Mr. Frank was investigating the ownership of the animal, a second auto, a Ford, struck the cow lying in the road. According to reports the driver fell to pieces upon the impact.

Mr. Frank was talking to a boy, said to be the son of the owner of the cow, when the Ford crashed into the animal. In the excitement, the Appleton man forgot to give the boy his name or set the name of the cow's owner.

A long distance telephone call was received by a Green Bay newspaper Monday morning from Mr. Frank, who admitted hitting and killing the cow, asking this newspaper to print his name for the information of the owner of the dead cow.

The occupants of the Ford, whose names were unknown, were taken on to Manitowoc by a passing motorist. The body of the cow was removed, but the Ford reclined peacefully by the roadside, late Monday evening.

NO PERMITS BUT NO BUILDING LULL

For the first time in many days no building permits were issued from the office of the city engineer on Monday. This fact, however, is not believed to be an indication of a lull in building activities. Construction this year has been unusually active. Comparison of local records with those of building inspectors' offices in other cities shows that building here is greatly above the average. A part of the time of G. E. Peotter, deputy building inspector, is devoted to examination of building plans in applications for permits and the issuance of the permits. Among his other duties are checking up of building activities to see if the provisions of the zoning ordinance and the conditions of the issuance of permits are being complied with.

ARTERY STREETS; SCHOOL BONDS, UP TO CITY COUNCIL

Abridgment Of Original Arterial System Proposal Probably Is Necessary

Final reading and passage of the ordinance authorizing the issuance of $250,000 in junior high school bonds is scheduled for the regular meeting of the common council in the city hall at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Another matter which has not been disposed of is the arterial highway system. The city has already ordered 100 arterial highway signs. Inasmuch as the original advertisement for bids mentioned 200 signs, it is expected that the schedule of arterial streets previously adopted will be considerably abridged. The plan is to cut down the number to a minimum, and add streets to the system later, to enforce the system.

Several amendments to the city zoning ordinance also will be considered at the meeting of the council. The amendments would create two new local business districts, one at State and Outagamie-sts., the other at Water-ave and Cass-st.

Hiking Is Bad To Waupaca So Girls Want Cars

Girl scouts and camp fire girls are playing a game of "now you see it, now you don't" with the automobiles which are to take them to Waupaca to camp on Saturday. For a short time it seemed that enough cars had been volunteered for the trip to assure all of the girls a ride to the chain of lakes. On Monday the volunteers began to drop out for one reason or another and by Tuesday evening the girls were short several cars.

As the club headquarters are being moved while the directors are trying to make the final arrangements for camping, the task of getting additional cars will be a big one. Any one who can make the trip to Waupaca after lunch on Saturday and who would like to do a good turn for the girls is urged to telephone Miss Eleanor Halls at her home.

25 YOUTHS FROM THIS DISTRICT GO TO CIVILIAN CAMP

Three Thousand Badgers Are Expected At Training School At Custer

Only about 25 candidates were selected for the Citizens Military Training camp at Camp Custer, Mich., from this district, while most of the surrounding counties sent full quotas. This county was given a quota of 39 for the camp. The men left on Monday and Tuesday to enable them to reach Camp Custer on Aug. 1.

The following youths are those who enlisted through the office of major Albert Tucker of the Organized Army reserve. Others enlisted through Alfred Bradford and some went directly to the camp. It is expected that 3,000 Wisconsin youths will be in camp. Enrollments for all the citizens camps in the country exceeded the quota by 6,500 according to information on Tuesday, but all will be taken care of because the appropriation is large enough to cover the training.
The Appleton men on Major Tucker's list include: Albert E. Timme, 485 College-ave; Alex Monette, 547 State-st; Arnold Brautigan, 541 Jackson-st; Robin B. Clark, R. F. D. 2; Carl King, Appleton; Roman Wenzel, 769 Appleton-st; Claude Thompson, 688 Atlantic-st; Conrad Delrow, 815 Mason-st; Fred Rehfeldt, 1308 Parkhurst-st; Donald Kurz, 815 Morrison-st; Robert Sanders, Route 8; Richard Nelson, 813 Morrison-st. Others from the district are Max E. Franco, Third-st. West; De Pere; Clayton Stowe, Miller-st. West; De Pere; Nicholas O'Mernick, Polonia.

STADL ORDERED TO U. S. AIR SCHOOL IN MICHIGAN

Stanley Staidl, a former officer and instructor in the army aviation corps in the World war, and now a partner of the law firm of Lonsdorf and Staidl, has been ordered to Mount Clemens, Mich., for 15 days service on Selfridge flying field, where he will acquaint himself with the latest methods in aviation. The course at Mt. Clemens is for reserve officers. Mr. Staidl has the rank of second lieutenant. He expects to return to Appleton about Aug. 15.

TRAFFIC CENSUS BLANKS ARE HERE

Blank forms on which to record the traffic census of foreign automobiles passing through the city Friday, Aug. 3, have been received by the chamber of commerce from the Wisconsin highway commission.

These blanks will be placed in the hands of Chief George T. Prim of the police department, who will have charge of the count here. Boy scouts are to assist in recording the cars from other states.

Each traffic sheet has space on which to record about 100 cars, with name of home, state and license numbers. Duplications are expected to be numerous, but these will be eliminated when the highway commission compiles the reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trettlen left Monday for a week's vacation trip to Shawano and other northern Wisconsin points.

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn
Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 95 per cent. and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Schintz Bros. today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.

$10,000 ESTATE AWAITS DAUGHTER OF RAILROAD MAN

Mrs. John Schroeder Of Hortonville Seeks Granddaughter She Never Saw

Mrs. John Schroeder of Hortonville is asking for aid in locating her granddaughter, whom she has not seen for years and to whom rights belong, she asserts, a portion of a $10,000 estate left by the father of the missing woman.

The girl's maiden name was either Maude Schroeder or Maude Dowling. The uncertainty of the name is only one feature of the strange story.

Years ago, Mrs. Schroeder's son, William, a railroad freight conductor, married a college girl named Della secretly. Neither was of legal age, and after three months of matrimonial bliss, the parents of the girl, whose full name is not known, heard of the affair, and unknown to William Schroeder, had the marriage annulled.

Then a daughter Maude, was born to the girl, but Schroeder was not informed of this until years later when he met his former wife by accident in Oshkosh. In the meantime the girl had been forced to marry a cousin of hers named Dowling, and three more children were born.

Schroeder had been married in the meantime. Four years after Schroeder again met his former wife he was killed in a railroad accident. Damages of $10,000 were collected by his second wife, Schroeder's mother, however.

Informed the court that there was a daughter, Maude, but that she would have to be found. It was charged that the second wife was addicted to the use of drugs and the money was placed in trust for her for five years.

She received only the interest. Next spring the five years will have elapsed, and if the daughter is not found, the entire $10,000 will be paid the second Mrs. Schroeder.

The girl, Maude, is believed to be 23 years old. It is learned that she married and was once a resident of Oniro, Wis.

"Fill Your Coal Bins Now," Fuel Dealers Are Warning Their Customers

Serious Situation Will Result If Hard Coal Miners Lay Down Their Tools and Strike On Sept. 1

Appleton coal dealers were loath to predict a coal shortage for the coming winter, inasmuch as the whole matter of supply depends upon whether the forecasted anthracite miners' strike fails to materialize.

While one dealer thought it useless to excite the buying public with talk about strikes and coal shortage, and while another dealer frankly admitted that many persons have come to regard the frequent threats about a coal shortage as a hoax, yet all dealers interviewed renewed their advice to lay in at least a part of the winter's supply of coal at once.

The advice was given from the economic viewpoint, rather than as a warning. Coal retailers would rather distribute their sales over the whole year than be crowded with orders and deliveries in the fall months.

"Wisconsin is expected to get all its hard coal before the close of navigation," it was stated at the Balliet Supply company. "But because the summer orders have not been up to normal, the coal docks are not filling up as rapidly as they should."

ALARMED IN EAST

"How the east views the probability of a strike can be seen from the fact that an Appleton resident hurried home from the Pennsylvania coal regions this week in order to lay in his winter's coal supply."

"The agreement the miners made with the operators after the strike last year to go back to work at the old wages for one year will expire Aug. 31. We don't believe that the men will accept a 20 per cent decrease in wages."

C. L. Marston, of Marston Brothers Co., said there is no shortage of coal now, but it is impossible to say when it will be in the fall.

"Nevertheless," he said, "we are advising our customers to buy their coal now for the reason that they can get what they want now. Last year they were forced to take pea and buck wheat coal when they would have preferred something else."

COAL MOVING SLOWLY

"It is hard to say whether there will be a shortage," it was said by John Haug. "Of course a strike of hard coal miners in the fall would be more serious than a strike in spring such as last year. Coal is selling for about the same price as last year, but is not moving very fast at this time."

"I haven't come into contact with anyone recently who has been in touch with the situation in the eastern hard coal regions," said John Hettinger of the Hettinger Lumber company, "hence I wouldn't undertake to predict anything about a strike or coal shortage, although the situation looks serious enough."

"It is hardly necessary for us to advise our customers to lay in a good supply now, for up to July 1 we had the best run in years. A number of customers who during the hard coal shortage took to using coke have been accustomed to it now. The price of both hard and soft coal is practically the same as it was last summer."

PEOPLE DON'T LEARN

"If the miners walk out on Aug. 31 in the hard coal mines," said R. W. Getschow of the Ideal Lumber company, "then there will absolutely be a coal shortage. It is strange that people have not learned a lesson from the situation last year. Back east people have been taking in coal all summer, but very little has been taken out west. Because of the demand in the east and Canada, the west has been getting only a small surplus, but even that is not being taken by the people in the west. I expect, however, that in August people will take the situation more seriously. A strike

AIRPLANE STAMPS SOON WILL BE OFFERED HERE

The old bicycle boy on the special delivery stamps has been metamorphosed into a motorcycle boy, but postage stamps are soon to be issued by the United States postal department that will bear night-flying airplane engravings. The stamps are to be used on letters which after Aug. 1 are to be winged across the continent on night-flying airplanes, according to announcement received here from John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general.

The stamps probably will be in denominations of 12, 15 and 24 cents, according to postoffice officials, although the exact rate of charge per ounce for mail service has not as yet been determined.

Stamps of the old 1912 series are gradually being replaced at the Appleton postoffice with those of the 1922 series. Most of the old stamp supply has been practically exhausted.

In the fall, if of short duration, will not be quite so serious as a strike during the summer, since a good supply of coal will have been mined during the summer months."

Chamber Of Commerce Asked To Help Place Rehabilitated Soldiers

An appeal to local business men to assist in absorbing into industry the three or four thousand disabled war veterans who are completing government training courses monthly has been made by the chamber of commerce at the request of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The appeal calls attention to the obligation which rests on the business interests of the country to cooperate with the government to the end that all of the men be given employment. Practical suggestions are offered to local chambers as to how to help absorb these men.

These men are being trained in many lines, and with mental and physical capacity according to the demands of their work, the national chamber says. The government only can rehabilitate and train the men up to the point where they are ready for employment. The country must help from there on.

These are the specific things which Appleton Chamber of Commerce is requested to do:

Obtain the name of trained former service men from the district branch of the veterans bureau.

Send a brief description of the men to employing members of the organization.

Have a general committee canvass the local situation and get pledges from employers to absorb a certain number of men in a given period.

Enlist other agencies to assist in the placement of men.

G. W. Sulley's Addresses Here Will Help With City-Farm Problem

Enthusiasm for better business methods is stirred up in all the cities visited by G. W. Sulley of Dayton, Ohio, who makes two addresses here Monday, Aug. 5, under auspices of the chamber of commerce. He speaks before the Lions club at a noon luncheon and before merchants and salespeople in the evening.

Some highly constructive ideas are advanced by Mr. Sulley in his talks, in addition to the stimulus to new activity that he imparts by his vigor, enthusiasm and his personality. This is attested by the reception he has been given in his addresses before hundreds of retailers' conventions, chambers of commerce, retail merchants associations and smaller groups in the United States and Canada.

It is expected that the speaker will give local business men some suggestions in their plan of working out problems mutually with the farmers. He was born on a farm in Ohio and grew up there.

100° in the Shade or 10° below Zero!

One hundred degrees in the shade or ten below zero, meat deliveries to your retailer go steadily on, so that you may be assured of just the kind and quality of meat that you desire.

No city is so far removed from live stock production that it cannot receive its regular supply of fresh meats.

Compare this with the meat supply of thirty or forty years ago. Summer weather then meant salt or pickled meats in the country, and a limited variety of fresh meats in most cities.

Refrigeration, developed by scientists, has made it possible for Swift & Company, and other packers, to prepare fresh meats and ship them long distances in refrigerator cars, so that, today, without regard to heat or cold, meat reaches your dealer fresh, clean, and wholesome.

In addition to the fresh meats thus available, Swift & Company prepares a variety of tempting meats for hot weather:

Swift's Premium Cooked Ham, mild and sweet, smoked over hard wood fires, is always delicious.

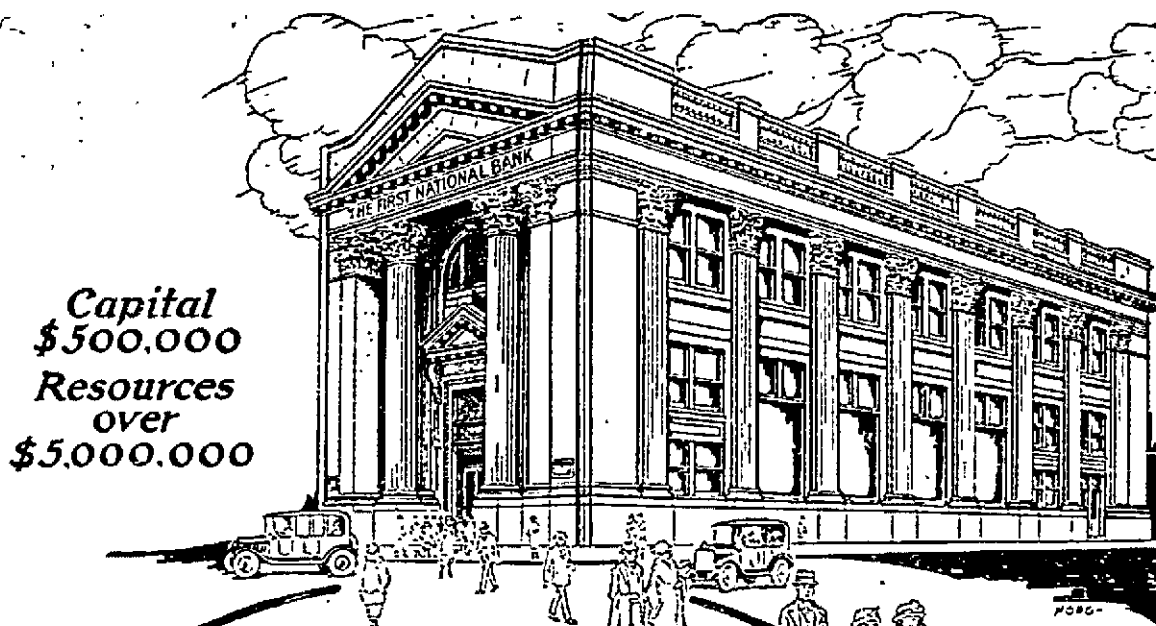

Swift's Premium Frankfurts, from our modern sanitary kitchens, offer a choice blending of meats and spices.

A SPECIAL SESSION

The pressure on the president for an extra session of congress increases with iteration of the demand by the opponents of the administration, particularly those who hold themselves out as the special friends of the farmer. It is the logical and adroit move by the opposition. Its chief business from now on until the next election is to discredit Mr. Harding. One of the ways to do this is to demand of him unnecessary or impossible things for the alleged benefit of the people, and then to denounce him for and make an issue of his refusal. The campaign of 1924 is in reality under way. The stage is being set for that important event and the preliminary maneuvers for strategic advantage are in progress.

This is the explanation of the cry for an extra session of congress. It would afford an opportunity for a lavish display of oratory. It would give the politician a chance to make spectacular appeals and to harangue the nation on what should be done for its salvation. This is about all the session would amount to. It is about all the regular session amounted to, and it had two years in which to make the farmer prosperous by legislation and to reform the republic generally. It started out with the farmer as its object of chief concern, yet all it did for him was to enact a tariff law that put a useless duty of 30 cents a bushel on wheat and taxed the farmer a good round sum for everything that he bought.

There is no prospect that it would do any better at a special session. Nobody has any specific program in case congress should assemble. Even the so-called radicals do not know what they wish to have done. Mr. Brookhart admits this, so does Magnus Johnson, while Mr. La Follette and the others are more or less discreetly silent. Mr. Brookhart goes even so far as to say that "a complete remedy (for the farmer) is found in co-operative control of production, processing, credit and marketing by the farmers themselves." This is one of the few sound expressions we have yet heard from the illustrious Iowan. There is no legislative panacea for the farmer. Politicians have for generations spouted about the lot of the down-trodden farmer. They have promised everything under the sun for him via the political route at Washington, but when they were elected on these promises and sent there to make good they were as empty of ideas as a hollow rubber ball.

Mr. Brookhart wants the government to market the wheat crop as a measure of "temporary relief." This would mean merely the shifting of losses under the market price from the farmer to the government. It would establish a paternalistic precedent that would do almost as much to deaden private initiative and individual effort as socialism itself. Once undertaken it would be resorted to every time there was a drop in the market. It would encourage farmers to raise wheat when wheat was not needed and to rely upon the government for their income rather than intelligent adjustment of their production to markets and the laws of supply and demand.

However, we do not think the politicians who are advocating these measures have any ideas that they will be adopted. They merely want to go to Washington to stimulate rural discontent and to further convince the farmer that government is responsible for his condition and that government should, therefore, come to his rescue. It is utterly preposterous to believe that a special session, which would be only a few weeks in advance of the regular session, would do anything whatsoever to help the farmer or anybody else that the regular session could not do. It is generally admitted that the regular session will do nothing, that the approach of a presidential election will operate with paralyzing effects, as it invariably does. No helpful laws are to be expected of a special session. The less congress is in session the better off is the country. The medley of fantastic suggestions to help the farmer is ninety-nine per cent political buncombe.

Mr. Brookhart delivered himself of a mouthful when he said that the only complete remedy for the farmers was in the hands of the farmers themselves. If that is so, and it most assuredly is so, why not go for the complete remedy rather than to put the patient to bed with a hot water bottle at his feet and an ice bag at his head? The answer is that it would not be good politics.

HIRAM JOHNSON'S WAR

Senator Hiram Johnson says that he saw in Europe the slow rumbling approach of another conflict. "Another bloody war is in the making. I would prevent it if I could; but if that bloody war is no concern of ours and comes from causes of which we are no part, I would not send a single American soldier again across the seas."

No detached observer ever sat on the brink of the Niagara gorge and watched the whirlpool with more soulful and confident gaze than Hiram Johnson's as he contemplates the world tumbling pellmell after the Four Horsemen. How greatly the California senator desires to "prevent" the next war may be judged best by his acts. He has persistently and bitterly fought the League of Nations, the organization set up to prevent it by world cooperation. He has leaped joyfully to obtain a slice of the monopoly benefits for his constituents from the Fordney-McCumber high tariff, which was calculated to shut off European trade with this country and is helping to prevent the material recovery which is a preliminary to any condition of peace. He is now fighting even the world court, a panel of judges to which nations may refer disputes instead of going to war over them.

But even more than Senator Johnson's past motives, his impression of a future war impresses and intrigues us. It may be, we are led to assume, one which will be "no concern of ours" and which will "come from causes of which we are no part."

The last war, unless memory fails, came from causes of which we were no part. For some time it was no concern of ours, and Mr. Wilson won re-election by saying so. Then it began to sink our ships, and Americans began taking sides, and we lost the abstract viewpoint. Wars today are fought by blockade as well as by high explosives; they concern every nation on earth which wants to carry on trade and whose nationals own property or wish to transport their persons abroad. Hiram Johnson knows perfectly well that there never will be another major war in which the United States will not be concerned immediately. He knows that we are concerned even in the little minor war of Turkey and Greece, and have had to have a very active ambassador on the job at settlement time.

All Mr. Johnson's statement amounts to is a declaration that individual grandstand effort—the United States standing off and urging Europe what to do—is better than teamwork. We have now stood off and urged for five years.

THE END OF PAPER MONEY

The best news from Europe in some time is the announcement that Finance Minister Hermes proposes to restore the German monetary system to the gold basis. The plan which he has suggested to bankers looks to elimination of paper money. We must not forget that unsecured printed money is one of the principal causes of the prevailing economic distress in Europe.

Herr Hermes has in mind selling gold bonds and allowing subscriptions in paper marks. Once the government decides to accept paper marks for gold bonds, it will have to do two things, specify the value of the paper marks and then quit issuing unsecured currency.

Should Germany and other continental governments delay much longer in reestablishing the gold basis, industry and trade will collapse. This state was reached in Germany a week ago when the Reichsbank was forced to discontinue printing marks, as the paper, ink and work on the bills cost more than the currency was worth.

With money on the gold basis, its value will be stabilized and business will be organized on the international standard so that readjustment will be facilitated.

COATED TONGUE

The only way the old doctor had to stop the flow of chatter for a moment was to ask the patient to let him see her tongue. From my experience in practice I infer that the momentous deductions and conclusions the medical fathers were wont to draw from the appearance of the tongue were more or less influenced by the blessed if brief intervals of silence vouchsafed by this ceremony.

A coated tongue tells a story if it can be feasted long enough for the doctor to inspect it thoroughly, but by no means betrays what ails the patient. In fact it is unusual to find a healthy individual without any coating on the back of the tongue. Whenever an illness, acute or chronic, slight or severe, impairs appetite and removes the normal inclination to masticate food, the tongue is sure to become more or less coated or furred. If even a healthy individual takes a liquid diet for a few days, say a milk diet, his tongue will probably acquire a coating. If one subsists on a diet which is too refined and which therefore makes no demand upon mastication, the tongue is likely to wear a fur coat. Any considerable loss or defect of the teeth, preventing thorough mastication, tends to keep a coat on the tongue.

In some cases a yellow coating on the back of the tongue, noticed particularly in the morning and perhaps associated with a disagreeable taste in the mouth, is due to reserve peristalsis which carries material back from the stomach or even from the duodenum (where the bile is delivered from the liver) and deposits it on the tongue. This condition is common to many diseases of the digestive organs and the bile apparatus, and is a common complaint in just plain overeating.

Fletcherism is the logical remedy for a coated tongue. Just what Fletcherism is one can best learn by reading Horace Fletcher's "The New Glutton or Epicure," and "The A. B. Z. of Our Own Nutrition," published by the Frederick A. Stokes company New York, N. Y., obtainable in most public libraries. I should caution the layman not to take all that Fletcher teaches too seriously, particularly not his extreme suggestion of rejecting the residue that does not dissolve in the mouth. More thoroughly chewing of every morsel, however, is a healthful practice for every body, and it is also healthful to select a reasonable proportion of foods which one can chew with some satisfaction. The unmilled cereals, particularly wheat, make excellent chewing. Wheat bran, plain, raw, baked, or in various recipes, is another satisfactory and wholesome thing to chew on. Lemons, oranges and apples are good medicine. The salads, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables make good chewing. The skins of potatoes baked with the potatoes are well worth chewing. Wild rice (unpolished rice) in the raw makes a good chew, in my judgment. Raw carrots, raw potato, and other raw vegetables are good for persons who do not chew; certainly they are wholesome except perhaps for children under three or four years of age. Popcorn is fine chewing when a delicacy is desired. All of these items are desirable in the diet for more than one reason.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sweetening Under Arms

Kindly tell me whether it is harmful to use a 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride to stop perspiration in the armpits.—J. G.

Answer—No; a solution of about that strength or a little weaker, say half an ounce of aluminum chloride in three ounces of distilled water or rain water, may be sponged or mopped on the armpits and allowed to dry before dressing. Such an application daily or alternate days for three to six times will usually control sweating in the armpits without doing any harm, though sometimes it sets up some irritation of the skin.

It was at the railroad station. The sympathetic old woman watched the truckmen laboring in the hot sun. "Oh, you poor man," she said to one. "And you have such long hours too, don't you?"

"Not so bad," was the curt reply. "they'll run about 60 minutes' each on the average."

VACATION HOLLOW

Dear Rollo: Down here where I am boarding the landlady has the prettiest girl in town. In fact she is so beautiful that we've decided to visit the preacher. Now the elderly woman somehow suspects this, since she is feeding us on milk melons at every meal in spite of the high cost of living. But clever highball solved the mystery. For that is the reason we CANTELOUPE.

LANGUAGE LESSON IX

Correct this sentence: "You can't lose," said the conductor of a carnival booth, as he spun the roulette wheel for the thousandth time.

AND NO CHECKS, PLEASE

The theatrical profession, of which the carnival performers claim to be members, is accustomed to receive reductions on merchandise, food-stuffs, etcetera. And when a landlady was approached by a supposedly carnival "puss" this week, she was prepared for any argument about the price.

"What do you charge for rooms?" she was asked.

"I charge $5 up."

"But, madam, I'm an actor."

"Well, then $5 down."

Dear Rollo—Will you please communicate with Father Time and tell him to make the clock wheels go faster? We know where there's a lot of apples to coon, and you realize from your own boyhood experience that it's awfully hard to wait.

I. M. PATIENT.

Q. What are scallions? A. K. H.

A. Scallions are a kind of onion which are used for flavoring in much the same way that garlic is.

Q. How many stars are there in the Southern Cross? J. T. G.

A. This constellation consists of four bright stars, to which imagination gives the form of a crucifix. The stars making the head and foot of the cross act as pointers to the South Pole. This constellation is not visible in northern latitudes.

Q. Are the boys at West Point and Annapolis allowed to smoke? J. B. M. G.

A. Smoking is permitted only when men are in barracks.

Q. Are white foxes and blue foxes two distinct breeds? R. J. M.

A. They are not different species, but merely different color phases of the same fox. In both cases, the prized color represents the winter coat. In summer the white fox is brown and tawny, and the blue one is sooty gray and brown.

Q. Was any compensation made to the relatives or dependents of the victims of the Titanic disaster? K. L. T.

A. Seven hundred and twelve people are still receiving financial aid from the Titanic fund which was founded soon after the disaster occurred, according to the public trustees of this fund in their annual report. The fund was raised by public contribution. It amounts to 290,813 pounds. The interest is distributed in pension payments to 104 dependents of passengers and 608 dependents of members of the crew.

Q. Is the public drinking cup prohibited? G. F. D.

A. The public Health Service forbids the use of the common drinking cup in all places over which it has control, including all interstate trains. Many states and many cities too have prohibited it. Almost every communicable disease finds its point of entry through the nose or mouth.

Q. What fibers or textiles are notably hygroscopic? W. D. B.

A. All textile fibers are more or less hygroscopic, varying from 6 to 18 per cent. Cotton has 6 per cent moisture, silk 11 per cent; wool from 14 to 16 according to the relative humidity of the atmosphere. These figures are for moisture contained when exposed to an atmosphere of 65 per cent humidity at 70 degrees F.

Q. Is the house in which Charles Dickens wrote Oliver Twist still standing? T. F. J.

A. The Dickens Fellowship has purchased the Charles Dickens house, at 48 Doughty Street, Mecklenburg Square, London, in which was written Oliver Twist, Pickwick Papers, and Nicholas Nickleby. It will be adorned and equipped as a Dickens museum, library, and picture gallery.

Thousands Of Immigrants Are
Sneaked In U.S.

(Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, in The Review of Reviews.)

Thirty thousand Chinese are waiting in Cuba today, watching for a chance to be smuggled into the United States. They are willing to pay from $100 to $2500 a head to anyone who will accommodate them.

All they ask is that some boat bound for our coast take them aboard, and then on some dark night set them ashore on the mainland, preferably the Florida coast.

Is it any wonder, then, with such inducements as these, that the "bootleg immigrant" business is flourishing? In many ways it has the whiffy bootleg game badly beaten. And then, of course, the two lines fit nicely together.

A short time ago we investigated a case which had aroused our suspicions, and finally got a confession from a Jewish candy factory owner, showing that he had brought in by this means an entire family of his own relatives at a cost of nearly $8,000. In order to recoup himself he was holding these relatives under what amounted to peonage conditions at labor in his candy factory.

Many of these bootleg immigrants fall into our hands in one way and another but doubtless thousands of them each year reach their intended destinations in our larger cities. It is impossible with the limited force available to patrol our long coast and border lines and once they get among their fellow countrymen here, it is very difficult indeed to pick them up and deport them. Our laws are such that if a Chinese person, belonging to the coolie class, enters the United States, even though such entry is illegal and the man allies himself with a Chinese mercantile establishment, it is practically impossible subsequently to effect his deportation, as such Chinese person finds little difficulty in producing witnesses to testify as to his legal initial entry. In New York city the various tonga take care of this and similar illegal activities to the entire satisfaction of the native arrived Chinaman who, without expert advice of the tong, would surely face deportation.

ROUTE 15 TRAFFIC ON SUNDAYS LESS THAN ON WEEKDAYS

Official Traffic Census Reveals
Sharp Decrease In Use
Of Noted Highway

Contrary to traffic conditions on former days, autoing on Sundays has come to be lighter than on weekdays. This is clear not only from an unofficial traffic count taken by Appleton firemen a week ago at Oneida and Washington-sts., but is borne out in the official traffic census conducted by the county highway department on state trunk highway 15 at Kimberly station Sunday between 6 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night.

There were 250 fewer automobiles than were counted in the last weekday census. A total of 3,588 vehicles were counted, of which 2,499 were Wisconsin cars, 219 out-of-state cars, 72 light motor trucks, 94 heavy motor trucks, 50 motorcycles and 6 horse drawn vehicles.

The busiest hour was between 9 and 10 at night when 333 vehicles were observed. The minimum was 106 cars passing between 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning. There were fewer cars than usual between 8 and 9.

Probably the only reason that can be given for the decrease in Sunday traffic is that automobilists are seeking to avoid the crowded concrete roads on those days.

GREEN BAY A. OF C. MAN HURT IN CRASH

By Associated Press
Oshkosh — Ralph Davis, assistant secretary of the Green Bay Association of Commerce, was cut on the head and hands and his wife suffered a severe nervous shock when their coupe crashed into a concrete culvert wall on highway 15 about three miles north of Oshkosh shortly before noon Monday. The machine was partially wrecked, much damage being done to the radiator, engine and windshield. Mr. Davis said he reached around to adjust a cradle in which rested their five months old baby and the car got beyond control, running off the concrete road into the culvert. The baby was not hurt.

ANOTHER NEW BOOK IN BIG DEMAND HERE

"His Children's Children" Discusses Attitude of Modern "Younger Set"

A new book by Arthur Train, "His Children's Children," was one of the books in greatest demand last week at Appleton public library. It is on the subject of the younger generation which is under much discussion today, press and pulpit uniting, not always in condemnation, but in an endeavor to ascertain the causes of current phenomena. In "His Children's Children," Mr. Train shows that the field of inquiry must be far broader than a limited age-group if an understanding and solution are to be reached. As the reader follows the ultra-respectable but selfish Rufus Kayne through his financial crisis and his sudden loss of moral stamina, or watches his clever, but reckless daughter Diana in her freedom seeking life, or note the rapid steps by which the youngest daughter Sheila, a typical flapper, dances her way through the activities of her set, it becomes evident to the reader that the blame for the circumstances in which these persons find themselves does not rest entirely on the individual but on the lack of sympathy and cooperation between the members of the family, due to the accepted conditions of modern life.

The theme of the book lies in the fact that the stabilizing truths of religion cannot successfully be replaced by modern ideas that regard civilization only as a cloak and religion as a clever invention to keep miserable people contented and marriage as a ghastly joke—resulting in jealousy, hatred, or insufferable boredom. The reader is shown that side of life wherein young people go into society without the slightest idea that there is such a thing as a world of retribution and punishment, wherein many frankly have no faith in the creeds they profess, a generation that does not realize a man's reach should exceed his grasp.

Other fiction books in demand this last week were "Vandemark's Folly" by Quick, and "Danger" by Poole. Both books have been exceptionally popular since their appearance in book form. "Vandemark's Folly" first ran serially.

In the children's library Mark Twain was by far the most popular author last week.

The non-fiction numbers demanded by the adults in the main library have been "Life of Christ," Papini and "The Man from Maine" by Bok. The last book mentioned is comparatively new but has not been as popular as Papini's masterpiece.

Car For Every Six Persons In Badger State

By Associated Press
Madison—The number of licensed pleasure cars in Wisconsin has passed the 400,000 mark for the first time, the secretary of state's office reports.

With four months of registration remaining, 403,000 passenger automobiles have already obtained licenses. This is 43,000 more than the total for 1922, or an increase of nearly 18 per cent.

The secretary of state estimates that at least 20,000 more pleasure cars will be registered before November 1. In addition there are 30,000 trucks licensed in the state. This will bring the total of machines to over 450,000.

Before the end of another year, there is likely to be one car for every five persons, according to estimates of the secretary of state. Now there is an automobile for one person in six.

REMOVE DETOUR FROM ROAD TO MADISON IN FEW WEEKS

Appleton motorists who frequently drive the Oshkosh-Madison road will welcome the announcement that the 8½ miles of concrete highway between Columbus and Beaver Dam have been completed after nearly a year's course of construction.

The new stretch of road will be opened to traffic on Aug. 14, while the dirt shoulders will not be completed for several weeks more.

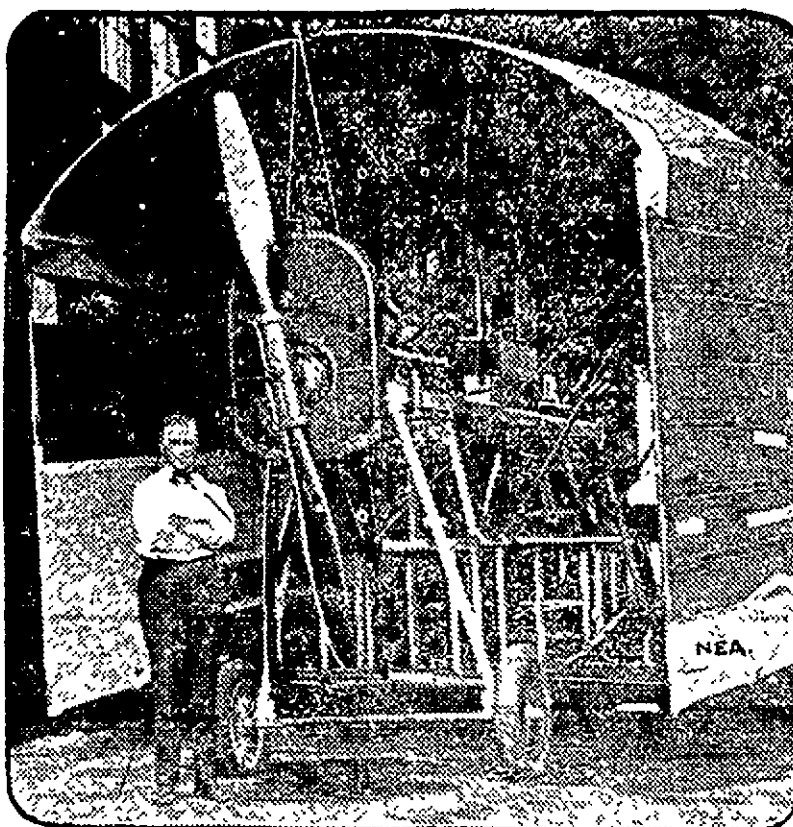

An 18-foot ribbon of concrete now extends from Beaver Dam to within three miles of Columbus, joining a macadam road that extends out of Columbus. This connecting link also furnishes a hard-surfaced, all-weather road from Green Bay to Madison.

and the thoughtful way in which players of correct types were fitted into the roles.

The man who feels awkward in the parlor and the woman who demands a great deal of "polish" and superficial mannerliness in a man will both find something especially interesting to them in "The Abysmal Brute."

Denny is an ideal type for the leading role and his fistic ability is proven beyond a doubt to be the real thing in this production. The scenes were photographed against a background of great natural beauty, but they remain part of the picture and are not forced to the foreground to the detriment of the story, a fault that has been common in many productions of late. Star, director and cast are alike entitled to the highest acclaim for their artistic endeavors.

SCHOONER OF THE AIR

John H. Lynch, of Pawtucket, R. I., with his invention, the vertipractor which he has ready for trials at Mineola, Long Island. He says the machine will rise vertically, like a helicopter. Two propellers driven by 200-h. p. motors force air against the cover which is somewhat like that of a prairie schooner.

MORE TEACHERS THAN JOBS IS RULE NOW

Appleton schools are not facing a shortage of teachers. On the contrary, practically all the vacancies caused by resignations of teachers in schools of the various districts have been refilled. Aside from the fact that salaries here are little above average paid in the state, which would naturally draw more teachers to this city, schools all over the state are said to face a situation of more teachers than vacancies. Miss Carrie E. Morgan, city superintendent of schools, has about 300 superfluous applications on file in her office.

The oversupply of teachers has probably arisen from the fact that many teachers who gave up their positions during the war are now endeavoring to resume the profession. Large classes graduating from state normal schools last year helped to swell the number of candidates for teaching positions.

"ABYSMAL BRUTE," LONDON CLASSIC, PROVES A HIT

Fans of Jack London can hold a grand party at the Elite Theatre, where "The Abysmal Brute," his dynamic story of a rough-cut man, opened yesterday for a 3 day engagement. Reginald Denny, of "The Leather Pushers," those humor classics of the prize ring with which Universal surprised the theatre-going public, is the star of "The Abysmal Brute," and his manliness is well exploited in the red-hooded fighting figure around which Jack London built his story.

Those who like Jack London and have read most of what he wrote will be fascinated by the picture, which was directed by Hobart Henley, a man noted for retaining the "flavor" or original novels in the screen transcription. And perhaps those who don't know Jack London's works will be led by the picture to taste of the natural wine, the brusque psychology of his stories.

Mabel Julienne Scott has the dramatic feminine leading role opposite Denny and the remainder of the cast includes David Torrance, Hayden Stevenson, Irene Haisman, Harry Mann, Buddy Messinger, Nell Craig, Dorothea Wolbert, Crawford Kent, and many others of note.

The fact that the humor in the story is so natural and free from that "dragged-in" aspect common in big pictures is accounted for by the direction of Henley, the careful adaptation of the story by A. P. Younger.

"We know some things without proof and are proud to take them on trust," answered Brendon. "Have I not seen Mrs. Doria under affliction and in situations unpeppably difficult? She buried her own crushing grief—"

"And in nine months was married to another man?"

"She is young and you have seen for yourself what her husband is. Who can tell what measures he took to win her?"

"Well, I do not ask much, but since I have picked up this thing for Albert's sake, there's one point on which I insist. If you are going to take Jenny into your confidence and assume that she has no wish or desire other than to see justice done and the mystery cleared, then I can't work with you, Mark."

"You wrong her, but that doesn't matter. I suppose. What does matter is that you wrong me," said Brendon, with fierce eyes fixed upon the elder. "I've never thought or dreamed of confiding in her, or any body else. I'm a detective first and last and always over this business, and I have some credit in my painful profession."

"Good. Remember that, whatever happens. And keep your temper with me, too, because nothing is gained by losing it. I'm not saying a word against Mrs. Doria, but inasmuch as she is Mrs. Doria and inasmuch as Doria is as yet very much an unknown quantity to you and me, you must understand that I don't allow appearances to blind my eyes or control my actions. It looks all right, but suppose for their own ends, that Jenny Doria and her spouse want to create the impression that they are not friends?"

"My God! What would you make of her?"

"It isn't what I'd make of her. It's what she really is. And that I'm going to find out, because a great deal more may depend upon it than you appear to imagine."

"A moment's reflection will surely convince you that neither she nor Doria—"

"Wait, wait! I'm only saying that we must not allow character, fancied or real, to dam any channel of investigation. Have you asked yourself why Bendigo Redmayne's diary is missing?"

"I have—and could not see how it was likely to contain anything dangerous to Robert Redmayne."

"Peter did not enlighten him for the moment. Then he spoke and changed the subject."

"I must find out several fundamental facts and I certainly shall not learn them here," he said. "Next week in all probability, unless something unexpected happens to prevent it, I go back to England."

"You want me to look after Mr. Redmayne?"

"No, I look after him. He's my first care. I haven't broke it to him yet, but he's going with me."

Gann considered and then proceeded.

"I must give you a clear understanding. I'm so used to playing a lone hand and saying nothing till I can say everything, that I may be tempted to treat you in a way you don't deserve. Now I'll tell you how the cat's jumping. She's jumping in the dark—I'll allow that; but what I seem to see dimly is this: that Giuseppe Doria knows a great deal more about the man in the red waistcoat than we do."

"If Albert disappeared, you've got to remember that Doria's wife would be the wordy gainer. Why anybody should want to kill Albert to put money into Jenny's pocket, I cannot say. But it's a feature; and while I'm in England, I'd ask you to keep your eyes skinned and try and find out as much about Giuseppe as you can."

"You forget that he only came into this business at 'Crow's Nest.'"

"How can I forget what I don't know? Why do you say he only came into it at 'Crow's Nest'? He may have come into it at Fogmorton. Perhaps he and not Robert Redmayne, or any other, cut Michael Pender's throat?"

"Impossible. Consider. Is not Michael's widow Doria's wife?"

"What, then? I'm not saying she knew he was the murderer."

"Another thing: Doria was the servant of Bendigo Redmayne at the time."

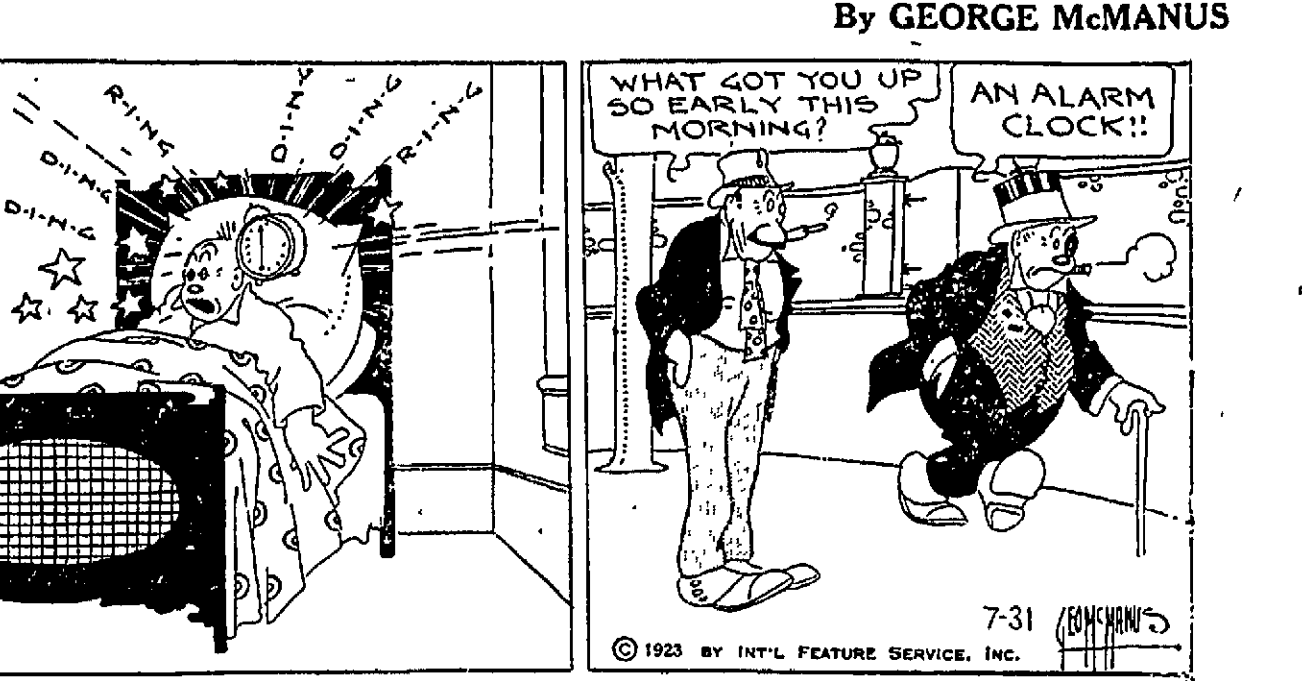

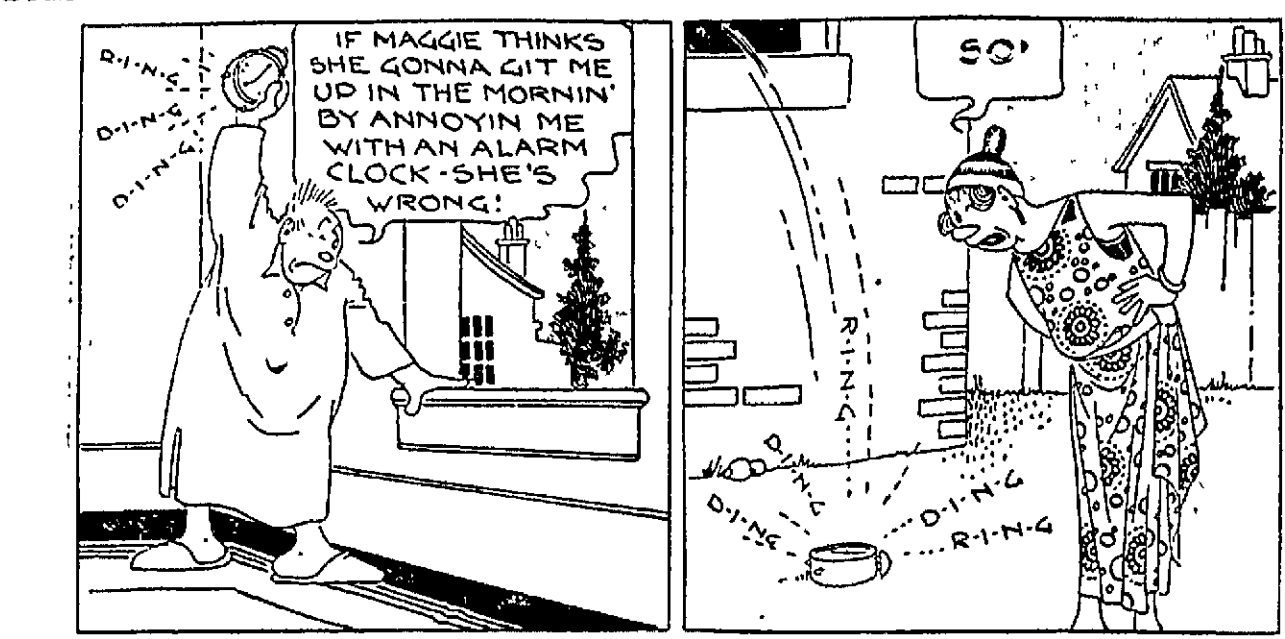

"And how do you know even so much?"

Brendon showed impatience.

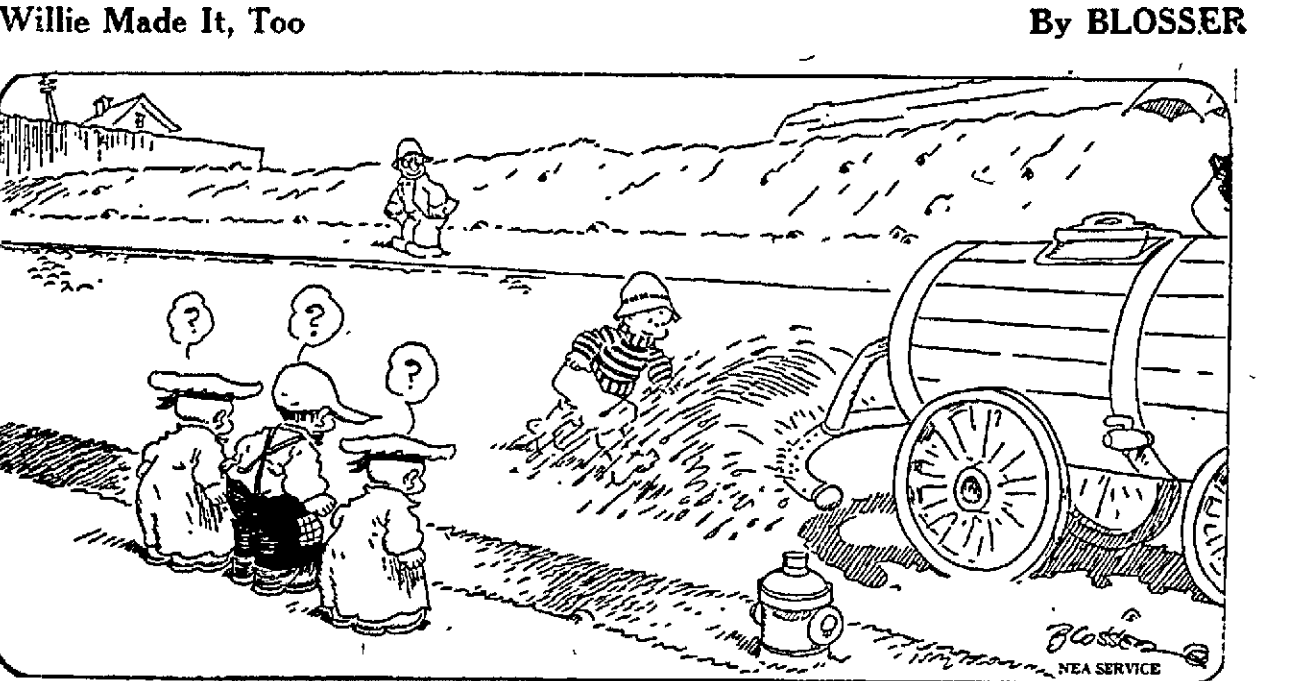

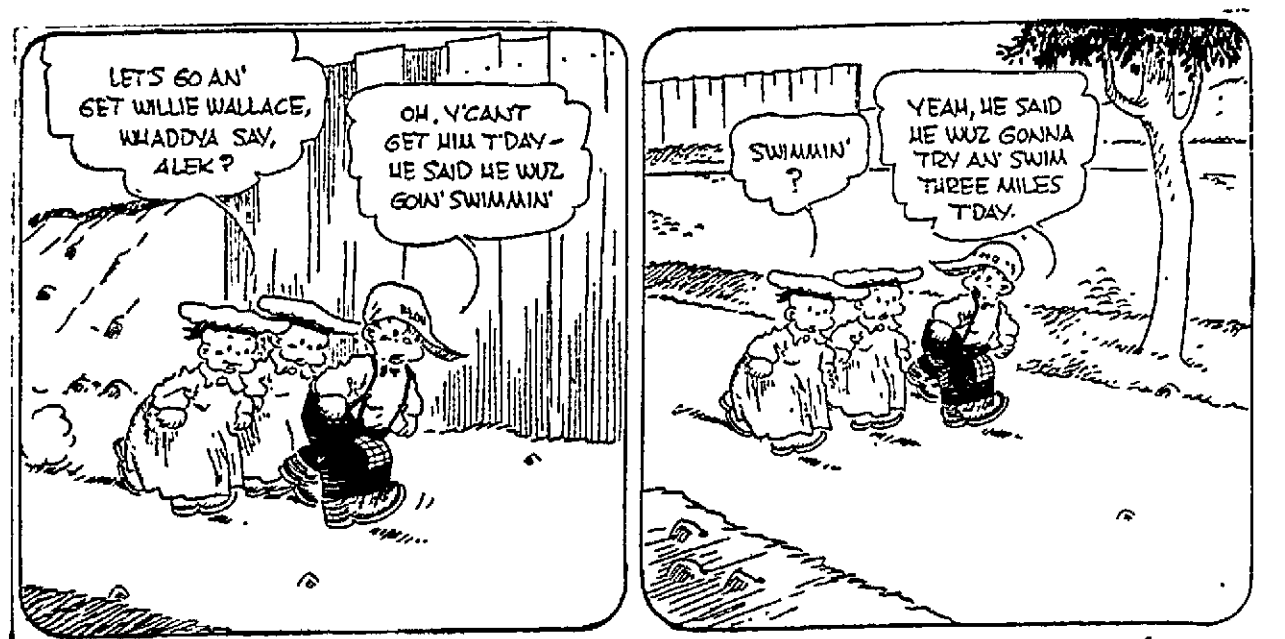

"My dear Gann, that's common knowledge."

"Common nothing! You can't swear he was the servant of Bendigo Redmayne on the day that the murder was committed. To prove as much would entail an amount of solid research that might surprise you of

A GIPSY HOLDUP

Last Tuesday I was on my way to Weyauwega in the Appleton-Waupaca bus which leaves here at 10:30 and we were treated to what looked like and turned out to be a regular wild west holdup. A band of 30 gypsies was camped on the detour of 18 this side of Weyauwega and when we went to pass the entire band surrounded the bus. The women singled out the men and taking their money, knives, pencils and the like chased away the bad luck. Then gave back the things, but when the men counted their money they found that some of the bills of larger denominations had been chased away with the luck.

When the women stopped the bus, I noticed that one of them had a necklace of ten dollar gold pieces and I mentioned the fact to Otto Ruch, chief of police of Weyauwega. He got busy, got the sheriff and under-sheriff Elbert Swanson and William Toepke and we started out for the gypsies. When we reached the scene of their camp we learned that they had just left in four large cars. The chase was on and it was not until we reached a place near Berlin, 40 miles from Weyauwega that we overtook them. The sheriff held court, took away the money which had been taken from the passengers, fined the wanderers $60 but compromised on $40. He returned the money to the bus passengers who were waiting in Weyauwega. G. L. C.

HORSE WRECKS WAGON

A somewhat vicious horse belonging to J. Ulman wrecked its buggy and gave pedestrians a scare on Durkeet Monday noon. The horse became frightened at a passing automobile at Harris and Durkeet, threw its driver and ran two blocks. Finally at the corner of Washington and Durkeet, the runaway galloped up on the sidewalk when the left wheel of the wagon got caught in a tree. The wheel and thills were badly damaged. E. J.

DANGEROUSLY KIND

Friday a small boy almost lost his life when he rescued a wounded dove from the road on Appleton-st near Hotel Northern. We were driving along and just saw the boy in time as he crawled out from under a car which was parked by the curb. In his grimy little hands, he held the dove up for our inspection as we passed. It was dangerous kindness to save the least and personally I believe in safety first. A. L.

THEY SHOCKED HIM

Girls who want to be funny make me tired especially when they go parading on the street without enough clothes on. I was coming home from uptown at 10:30 Friday night, when I saw two girls on Appleton-st, the one in a bathing suit and the other in a night dress. H. H.

Seek Store Location

C. H. Hartley, who was manager of the Wisconsin Northern railroad, Thomas Wall and Attorney John C. Thompson, all of Oshkosh, were in Appleton Monday seeking a location for a cigar store. They are interested in a corporation which has a chain of stores in the valley and probably will open one here if a place can be found in the downtown district.

ENFORCING THE LAW

At 8 o'clock Saturday evening a one arm man sat in front of the Penny store begging. He had been there only a few minutes when an officer came along, asked for his license and when he had none, he was told to move along. He was warned that a violation of the law again would mean the station for him. N. R.

Water Board Meets

The Appleton water commission is scheduled to hold its semi-monthly meeting in the city hall Wednesday afternoon. Bids for two generators and an oil heating system will be opened at the time.

Pulmotor Call

Members of the fire department answered a pulmotor call to the maternity hospital at 6:30 Monday evening. The call was received when all the firemen were fighting the fire at John Sigl's hotel. Luckily one of the firemen off duty who was summoned entered the engine house just as the alarm sounded.

Heinzl Hooks 11-Pound Cat In Big Lake

If it is sport and not your favorite brand of fish you are after, you may as well fish in Lake Winnebago and land an 11-pound catfish as John Heinzl, Conway hotel chef did on Sunday a short distance out on the lake from his home at Waverly beach. Mr. Heinzl was trolling in the lake when he hooked the big fellow, but it was not for a half hour that he was able to land him. The meat of catfish is said to be especially good when smoked and Mr. Heinzl is having his catch prepared for the smoke house now.

Big Cars Collide

Two Neenah residents were principals in an automobile collision in Appleton Saturday night, but both automobiles were able to return to Neenah on their own power. A collision took place between the Peerless coupe of F. A. Ballister and the Cadillac limousine of Harry Price. The cars were driving abreast when the Ballister car swerved into the side of the other car, damaging the running board and the finish on the door of the limousine. The right front fender of the Peerless machine was torn off.

GALPIN'S SALE ITEMS ARE WELL DIVERSIFIED

The popularity of things from Galpin's hardware store took a long range including everything from clothes baskets to barbed wire back to kitchen tables and then to saws. Perhaps the lowly but entirely useful clothes basket which sold at $1 proved to be the biggest attraction to the women. The baskets are good sized and are made of White Belgian reed and priced so reasonably that many women bought for future use or added a much wanted second basket to her wash day equipment. White enamel kitchen tables also sold well on Saturday.

It is so seldom that a staple like barbed wire is put on sale that when prices 30 cents below the market are put on it, there is a large trade stimulated. All grades of the wire were put on at a special price and many took advantage.

Through the special cooperation of the Winchester company, the hardware store was able to offer a good saw for 98 cents. This useful article is of a much higher quality than the usual reasonably priced tool.

You would have to be a German millionaire to purchase the special value barber shears which was being offered. The shears were made in Germany and sell at the Galpin sale for 85 cents, which amounts to a million marks in German money.

Although there was no apparent rush in the sale, Mr. Galpin said it had been one of the most satisfactory that they have had.

BARGAINS ON EVERYTHING AT GEO. WALSH CO. STORE

Beaver is the leading shade, but black, browns, tans and blues are to be secured. Feather hats as displayed at the store are especially attractive.

D'Lois is also closing out a number of late summer models which are at very special prices. A few white hats and black and white ones in cantons which are good for late wear are on display and style which will remain in for another season.

SUMMER FOOTWEAR MOVES AT THIS STORE

It was the summer novelties in footwear which proved to be most popular at the Schwaetzer-Langenberg store on the first days of sale. King Tut and barefoot sandals seemed to be the biggest attraction to the young girls and to the mothers of children.

Here, too, the steady trade rather than rushes of business was evident. J. B. Langenberg said that at bus and car time they found that there was a larger number came into the store, but that during the late day Saturday they had had all the business they could accommodate, but at no time was the store so crowded that the customers had to wait a long time to be waited upon.

The buyers were not preparing for the winter, according to Mr. Langenberg. Occasionally pairs of heavier shoes were purchased but on the whole it was the summer footwear which had been reduced which was purchased by the greatest number.

SALES STEADY AT THE FAIR STORE

At the Fair store, the steady sales of Saturday continued over to Monday and although the second day of bargain week was not a rush, business continued good. The sales were general throughout the store with most of the advertised specials popular with the purchasers.

The bargains in sleeveless and silk sweaters attracted a large number of patrons, especially the younger girls. The sleeveless numbers were in the bright colors in softly knitted wools, while the silk were mostly of the tuxedo or jacket styles in the darker colors. Although these have been popular, there are still many splendid values left for those who have not yet been able to take advantage of the store full of good purchases.

MEN'S STORE REPORTS BARGAINS WELL TAKEN

Straw hats which sold at half price were among the best Saturday sellers at Walman-Trotter clothing store. Although the sale there was quite general in all the departments and showed the same tendency to be a steady day of big business, Mr. Walman found that few people were preparing for the fall and winter. Most of their purchases were made from the summer stock.

Saturday evening's business was especially heavy, the proprietors found. The large number of people who came down town on that evening with the intention of visiting all of the stores in which they were interested, brought a goodly share of business to all of their departments, Mr. Walman said.

LANGSTADT-MEYER CO. HAVE GOOD RESPONSE

People from many places out of the city attended the sale at the Langstadt-Meyer company, especially on Saturday evening. Reports from the store say that the business was very good all day and exceptionally good in the evening.

Although the biggest business from the standpoint of numbers sold was in the smaller articles, Harvey Young, er said that the company was well satisfied with its Saturday business in washers, cleaners and lighting fixtures. The items which sold in the greatest numbers included toasters and flat irons as well as other kitchen conveniences and smaller household appliances.

BARGAINS MOVE FAST AT VOIGT'S DRUG STORE

The steady number of purchasers was especially apparent at Voigt's Drug store, according to J. E. Voigt. The business was good all day Saturday with people buying practically everything that had been put on the bargain list. Among the specials which had been offered were bathing caps and supplies and these attracted many buyers.

Mr. Voigt said that the cooperative plan had brought a great many people down town on the first days of the sale. On Monday there was still a goodly number coming in to buy things and he felt that the sale would continue good for the entire week.

STORES OFFER NEW BARGAINS DAILY

Appleton Bargain Week continues to meet with a splendid response on the part of the buying public. Practically all stores report a Monday's business that surpassed any previous sales day. A very pleasing feature of the sales week, is the fact that trade is steady throughout the day thus eliminating over crowded sales rooms and enabling the store clerks to give prompt and satisfactory service. New bargains are being placed on sale every day and the timeliness of the merchandise offered and the remarkable low prices should make Bargain Week a popular sales event.

CAMPING EQUIPMENT AT SPECIAL DISCOUNT

Practically every kind of khaki article is being sold at a discount of fifteen per cent in Appleton Army store. BOOSTER GAME TICKETS SELLING LIKE HOT CAKES

"Rowdy" Elliot Still Holds Off But Will Be Here For Booster Game

Appleton Businessmen Respond Handsomely In Attempt To Place Local Ball Club On Sound Financial Basis

Tickets for the booster game with Menasha, scheduled for Brandt park, Wednesday, August 8, are finding a ready sale among the fans and businessmen of Appleton. Many of the men who started out with from ten to thirty tickets have repeatedly come back for more to dispose of, some of them having sold more than sixty. Various clubs about the city have shown themselves especially interested in the Appleton State league club's welfare. According to all indications, therefore, the contest will be attended by a record crowd, and all anxiety as to the financial future of the Papermakers' tribe will be removed.

LINEUP UNCHANGED
As far as is known at present, the lineup of both teams will be unchanged for the booster game. "Rowdy" Elliot is still reluctant about signing up permanently, but has promised to be with "Dutch" Sylvester's line for the game against the Pals. Lathrop will pitch and the other players are determined to give the fans their money's worth.

Rush will pitch for the Menasha tribe, with Thornton as his backstop. "Red" Meizer, the spectacular motor cop, will occupy the second station, and in case Rush's salary word should peter out, may try his hand at his old game. Minch, the Pals' new shortstop, did his stuff in fine shape last Sunday, and will be at that station on the momentous day. Leopold has promised by his experience here two weeks ago, and will not allow the apple to fall before his nose again to show that the batter hit a foul. Cassa will be there to see to it that the ball has not been tampered with, and between times will play centerfield.

HORTONVILLE WINS KESHENA SWATFEST

Klingert's Clan Beats Indians, 19 To 12, In Loose Game Sunday

Hortonville got the best of the Keshena Indians, 19 to 12, in their baseball contest Sunday. The game was a swatfest. Fahlstrom, the Hortonville centerfielder, while the Keshena hurler for thirteen. The redoubtable "Cully" Fahlstrom struck out ten of his opponents, Martin six. Knudsen, Hortonville's centerfielder, and Klingert, first baseman, starred for their team, the former getting two doubles and a single, the latter a single, double, and triple. Together, these two stars were responsible for five runs. Martin, the Indians' pitcher, drove in three runs with three safe hits, and showed himself to be the best man on his team.

Batteries: Hortonville—Fahlstrom, and Hoter; Keshena, Martin and Dick.

REPAIRS ON COURSE PREVENT GOLF PLAY

Repairs in progress on the River-view Country club's golf course are making it difficult to finish the Cincinnati cup match which started July 7. The greens have been entirely rebuilt and are not yet ready for use, but are nearing completion. S. H. Cline, and C. S. Dickinson, who are the two survivors of the horde of entrants who made a try for the cup, are due to meet in the final match for the coveted trophy some time this week.

Puzzling Plays by Daily Evans

THE PLAY
Interference plays at the plate are troublesome. Often the runner and the ball arrive almost at the same time.

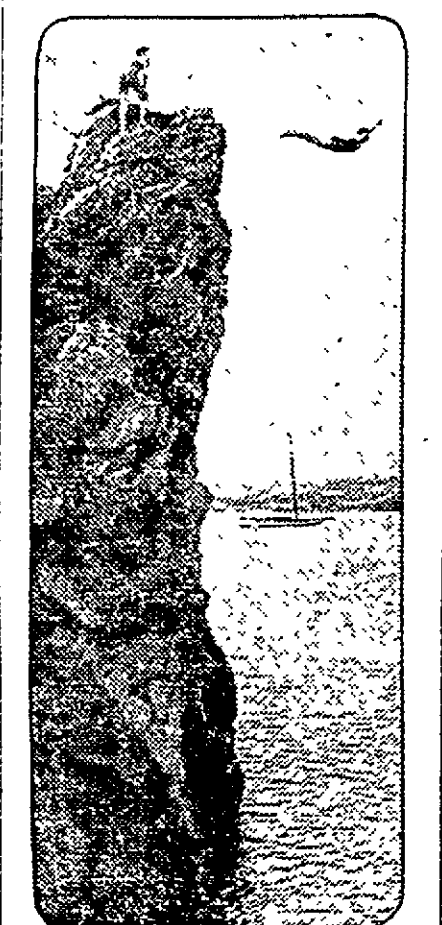

There is a runner on second the batter strikes to right, and the runner attempts to score on the hit. The catcher blocks the plate, and the runner slides into him, while the ball is considerable distance away.

Despite efforts to reach the plate, he is unable to do so, although only a few inches away. In the meantime the ball arrives and the catcher touches him.

What is the proper ruling?
THE INTERPRETATION
The runner should have been declared safe. The catcher has no right to knock off the runner at the home plate unless he has the ball ready to make a play.

New York—Luis Angel Firpo, who expressed at Omaha Monday, that his fight with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship might be postponed for a year will not be realized. Tex Rickard promoter of the match said.

WISCONSIN ISSUES FISHERMAN GUIDE

Conservation Commission Prints Pamphlet Of Locations In State

Madison—"Where to Fish in Wisconsin," a question asked by thousands of tourists, is answered by the Wisconsin Conservation commission in a pamphlet just issued.

Fishermen seeking almost any kind of fish can find advice in the pamphlet telling them of streams to meet their needs, the location of these streams by county, highway, railroad and station, and the number of miles from railroad.

Brook trout, brown trout, rainbow trout, muskellunge, walleyed and great northern pike, large and small mouthed black bass, are all to be found in the streams listed by the Conservation commission.

"This booklet is published to meet a great demand," the commission writes. "Untold numbers of fishermen write the department asking where the best fishing may be enjoyed in Wisconsin. A few good streams or lakes may have been overlooked, but not many."

"It is hardly necessary to tell an experienced fisherman that he may be disappointed, especially if only a day or two are spent in fishing. Some days the fish do not take the hook even in water that have never been fished with hook and line."

"Most of the trout streams mentioned afford both fly and bait fishing depending on the time of the year and conditions prevalent at the time on the stream."

Kinks-o' the Links by PRO

In medal play if the player farther from the hole believes the ball of his opponent, which is the nearer, may handicap him in his putting, can he request his opponent to lift his ball?

A player has the right to ask his opponent to either lift or play his ball as he chooses.

Two players in a match game reach the putting green on the second shot. The one a trifle nearer the hole puts first and holes out. This being contrary to the rule, what attitude should be assumed by his opponent relative to the play?

If his opponent who is nearer the hole plays first, you may recall his stroke and make him replace his ball and wait until you have putted.

Is there a time limit on trying to find a lost ball?

There is a definite time limit to look for a ball. A player has five minutes in which to find the ball. Failing to do so in that time, it must be considered a lost ball.

Chicago—Morris Schaffer, Omaha welterweight, stopped Jimmy Clabby of Hammond in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout at East Chicago.

Terre Haute—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute lightweight, outpointed Tommy Murray of Philadelphia in a ten round bout, according to newspaper men.

REDS CLIMB BACK TO 2ND PLACE BY DOUBLE VICTORY

Cincinnati Defeats Philadelphia In Double Header, 7 To 5, And 5 To 4

By Associated Press
Chicago—The Cincinnati Reds playing on their own lot climbed back to second place in the National league Monday by defeating Philadelphia in a double header while the New York Nationals split a twin tussel with Pittsburgh. In two close fought games the Reds just managed to come out on top, winning, 7 to 5, and 5 to 4.

The Giants, playing in Pittsburgh, lost their first game, 5 to 4, but turned the second into an old fashioned batting bee, winning 17 to 2.

In the American league, the leaders also took a step backward. Although the New York Yankees won from Chicago, 5 to 3, the Cleveland Americans took a double header from Boston and crept up half a game. They won 5 to 4, and 2 to 0. There were nine double plays in the two games, six of them contributed by Cleveland.

In Philadelphia, McManus of the local Americans, pounded out two home runs for the St. Louis Browns, accounting for four runs. Severed followed suit with one non-stop round trip and St. Louis won the first game, 5 to 2. In the second, they kept right on winning and took the game, 4 to 2. The Brooklyn Nationals downed the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis, 6 to 5 with Tom Griffith doing the star stick work. He lined out four hits, and two of them, one of which was a homer, accounted for four tallies. Hornsby also hit a homer.

The Boston Nationals just squeezed out ahead of Chicago in Chicago, winning 6 to 5. Ford made a homer.

In the nation's capital, the senatorial team of the American league made one run in the first inning and held just that one all the way through. It turned out to be enough, as the Detroiters failed to connect often enough to push themselves around. Walter Johnson was the winning pitcher. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was called because of rain.

Harris, a recruit from the Piedmont league made his first appearance with the Cincinnati Nationals and won the second game of the double header from "Lefty" Weimer of Philadelphia. Pete Donohue, although hit freely in the first game, was given sensational support and pulled out the first victory.

The St. Louis Americans with some heavy hitting by McManus and a bad inning by Bob Hasty in the second game defeated the Philadelphia Americans in a twin bill.

Sam Jones had his jinx working again against the Chicago Americans and New York evaded the series by winning the fourth game.

Jones allowed six hits and two of them were homers by Kamm and Mostil. Ward accepted eleven chances at second base without an error.

Cliff Happenny the former University of Illinois star, is filling the position at short for the Chicago Americans during the absence of Harvey McClellan. Little Mac has wrenched his side.

Ernie Osborne of the Chicago Nationals got away to a poor start when Ford nicked him for a home run with the bases filled which gave the Boston Nationals the jump. Chicago rallied toward the finish after Rube Marquard was forced to retire after being hit on the face with a hot grounder in the seventh inning, but was unable to overtake the lead.

Freak Homer Credited To Bill Lathrop

In the last half of the ninth inning of Sunday's game with Green Bay, Big Bill Lathrop poled the pill out to the centerfield fence, losing it in the tall grass and driving Elliot in before him. According to the old method of scoring, Lathrop would not have been credited with a homer for this hit, and neither would the run have counted in the final score of the team. Elliot's tally having been sufficient to break the tie score, 1 to 1. Now, however, upon consulting the new book of rules, we find that the case is covered by Rule 55, section 3-a, which says: "If in the last half of the final inning, with the winning run on base, the batsman drives home that run, credit shall be given him for as many bases on his hit as the runner advances, except, however, that in case of the batsman driving a fair ball out of the playing field, he shall receive credit for a home run."

Therefore, the box score published Monday on this page was erroneous, and Lathrop should be credited with a homer run although the final score, 2 to 1, still stands.

YOURS FOR A DAY
London—The idea of renting an auto and driving it yourself, which started in America, at least has hit England. Several dealers now advertise in that wise and people seem to be taking to it like a mosquito to a red rag.

Riverview Golfers Win Honors In Meet Of State Champions

C. S. and K. S. Dickinson Tie Milwaukee Pair For Low Gross Honors With Card Of 82 At Blue Mound Country Club

Milwaukee — Milwaukee Country club golfers, five of them, led by the eminent Ned Allis, state champion, won the match play against bogey for the Yule cup in the twenty-third annual state golf tournament, which opened at the Blue Mound Country club on Monday. The winners finished ten up on that strange entity, the Colonel, principally through the excellent work of Allis and Bill Brumder.

Flashing the same sensational iron game that carried him to six state championships, Allis turned in rounds of 33, one under par, and 40, finishing six up. To this, Brumder added five points on cards of 33 and 42. Buddy Russell, the teen year old phenom, contributed two points. Walter Lind, C. C. and P. Allen, finished 15 to 13, the fifth member of the team reached the eighteenth green three down.

The victory of the Country club brings back to Milwaukee the historic trophy which for two years has rested on the mantelpiece of the Kenosha Country club.

Michiwaukee golfers, with Billy Sixty and Eddie Hayden the heaviest scorers with four and three points respectively, finished in second place, the same position the club won last year, with five points. Kenosha, winner of the event the last two years, was third, three down, and Blue Mound and Washington Park of Racine, tied for fourth, five down.

HANDICAP OF 23 HELPS
Of equal importance on the first day's play was the Pater Filius event, a two ball foursome with handicaps won by C. B. and H. J. Voorhuis of Kenosha, with a net score of 97. Father and son went out in 47, returned in 43 for a gross 90, and then subtracted a handicap of 23. W. D. and W. D. Martin, Jr., also of Kenosha, and C. C. Copeland Russell of the Milwaukee Country club, tied for second with 99, and G. S. and T. M. Euez of the Blue Mound club, finished third with 100.

C. S. and K. S. Dickinson of Appleton and L. A. and E. P. Allis of the Milwaukee Country club, tied for low gross honors with cards of 82. The former team turned in cards of 40 and 42, and the latter scores of 43 and 39. Handicaps of 9 and 5 respectively kept both teams from placing high in the low net event.

London—Paul Fritsch, who won the Olympic featherweight title in 1920 defeated Seaman Hall, former European lightweight champion in a ten round bout on points.

London—Auggie Ratner of New York defeated Ted "Kid" Lewis, former middleweight champion on points in a 20 round bout.

Firpo Wants Battle With Jack Postponed

By Associated Press
Omaha, Neb.—Luis Angel Firpo of the Argentine would like to have his championship heavyweight fight with Jack Dempsey, scheduled for New York on Sept. 14, postponed until next night with Homer Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Firpo expressed a desire to travel around more in America and meet more American fighters in order to learn various styles of boxing before meeting Dempsey.

His secretary was represented as declaring that Tex Rickard of New York, fight promoter, was "forcing things" and that Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, was a more popular opponent for Dempsey in New York today.

Although Firpo would prefer to postpone his bout with the champion until some time next year, he will not request a change from that date, he told the Associated Press late on Monday, through his secretary, G. Wilmer.

"Would you prefer that your fight with Dempsey be postponed?" Firpo was asked directly.

His secretary translated the question and Firpo's answer came back in the form of a question:

"Will what I say here reach New York?"

He was told it probably would, and then expressed his wish to do some traveling before taking on the present champion.

headache that made it impossible for him to work. After resting for about a week in Boston he was able to make the journey to his home in Chicago.

There a careful examination was made, which showed a blood clot forming that was the cause of all the trouble. Ormsby is "undergoing treatment for the injury under a specialist, but it is not believed that his condition will enable him to do any more unimpairing this year."

It is a rather singular fact that Ormsby is the second American League umpire to suffer serious injury as the result of being struck by a thrown ball by Catcher Walters.

Several years ago Umpire George Moriarty turned too quickly at second and was struck on the head and severely injured.

Columbus—Frankie Genaro, flyweight champion of America, was awarded a technical knockout over Buddy Wallace of Yonkers, N. Y., in the fourth round of their scheduled six round bout.

Ormsby May Be Out For Rest Of 1923 Season

Chicago—Umpire Ormsby of the American League staff is probably out of the running for the remainder of the season, as a result of a very unusual accident.

In a game at Boston several weeks ago, Ormsby while working the bases, turned to get a play at second, the runner on first attempting to steal that base. It so happened that he got in a direct line with the throw of Catcher Al Walters of the Boston club. The ball struck Ormsby directly under his left ear. He dropped as if completely knocked out but quickly got to his feet and resumed play.

Ormsby finished the game and also worked the following day. He then began to be troubled with a severe
